

How to Stay on the Cutting Edge of YOUR CREDIT CAREER

About This Class

The recent economic crises has left many things undone, not the least of which is career development through education and other tools that may no longer be at our disposal due to cost restraints. It is important that we don't lose sight of one of our most important assets, our own unique credit brand.

Join us as we discuss how establishing and maintaining your brand may increase the probability of excelling in your current job and prepare you for the future.

CEU points and CCE recertification points are available for this class.

About the Instructors

Larry Grogan, CCE, has over 20 years of experience in the credit industry. Currently, he is a Credit Analyst for BP Corporation North America, and has been with the company for the past six years. He also manages an informal job club at his local church. Prior to joining BP, he worked for Dun and Bradstreet and Nalco, Inc. Throughout his career, he has been active with the Association, he is a past chair to the NACM Midwest Board of Directors, and instructor for the Association.

Leslie Harrison currently serves as Director of Staffing and Membership for NACM Midwest. She has been with the Association since 2004, and has over 15 years of experience in staffing, specializing in accounting and business credit. Prior to joining NACM Midwest, she was responsible for creating, documenting and implementing all operational procedures, opening four new branch offices and pioneering a new division for her previous employer. She has also worked with most of the primary companies in the Chicagoland area, and placed hundreds of candidates in entry and executive level positions.
